NEW ENGLAND BRACES FOR 2ND HURRICANE

Nationalists Bombard Mainland

Reds Have 100,000 Soldiers Based Near Quemoy But Invasion Doubtful

UEMOY (P) — The Communists have an army of 100,000 Russian-equipped soldiers — up to 40,000 of them Korean War veterans — based within 50 miles of this tiny Chinese Nationalist island lying just off the Red-held mainland.

However, the commander of 30,000 Nationalist defenders said today he doubts that the Reds will risk an invasion of this island which has been the focal point of a "vest pocket war" since Sept. 3.

Newsman Visit Island

A group of 20 Chinese and foreign newsmen flew here from Taipei yesterday for a one-day visit which was prolonged a day by plane trouble.

The newsmen watched Nationalist big guns bombard the mainland a few miles to the West, even as Nationalist warplanes streaked across Formosa Strait to rain bombs on Amoy and other Red bases for the sixth straight day.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry in Taipei said the planes again teamed up with warships to hammer artillery positions from which the Communists have bombarded Quemoy and nearby Little Quemoy.

A special communique said planes yesterday destroyed seven army strongpoints at Cingyu Island, a satellite of the big base at Amoy, and destroyed three barracks at White Stone Fortress.

Report Dense Smoke

Returning pilots reported dense smoke rolling up 2,000 feet over the Amoy area, the communique said.

In six days of attacks the Nationalist air force has not been challenged by Communist fighters.

The Chinese Communist radio at Peiping said one Nationalist plane was shot down and one was damaged in yesterday's attacks on Amoy. The broadcast said two waves of attacking planes dropped nine bombs.

Peiping also claimed that Communist big guns silenced a battery of Nationalist howitzers on Little Quemoy. The broadcast didn't say when the action occurred.

Gen. Liu Yu-chuang, Nationalist commander of Quemoy, told visiting newsmen that about 10,000 shells have been fired at Quemoy from Soviet-made guns since Sept. 3 — with 6,000 fired in a five-hour bombardment which opened the attack.

Allies United On Rearmament Of W. Germany

Present Solid Front Against Red Move To Exploit EDC's Failure

WASHINGTON (P) — The United States, Britain and France presented a united front to Russia today on rearming West Germany even though they still are divided and uncertain over how to solve the critical problem.

What was regarded as Russia's latest move to sidetrack German rearmament and exploit Western confusion over the collapse of the European Defense Community project was rebuffed yesterday by the three Western Powers in decidedly firm notes.

Russia had called for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting right away to set up a European security system it had suggested as an alternative to the new defense plan for integrating West German troops in a European Army. The Soviets suggested the Big Four ministers might at the same time tackle outstanding German problems.

Want Free Elections

In virtually identical notes made public last night, the Western powers told Russia a foreign ministers meeting would do no good unless the Soviets were willing to sign an Austrian independence treaty and agree to the unification of Germany by a process beginning with free elections.

They thus demanded that the Soviet Union reverse itself on two major points — and no one really expected the Russians to do that. Russia was told security in Europe cannot be brought about by the signature of a general treaty of the kind proposed by the Soviet government — a treaty that would embrace communist and free nations alike.

Real security can only result, the notes said, from solution of specific problems "of which the most pressing" are German and Austrian treaties.

Furthermore, Russia was told the West will not consider modifying or abandoning the North Atlantic Alliance which the United States, Britain and France said was set up to defend the Western nations "against the threat created by the establishment since 1945 of a heavily-armed Soviet grouping in Eastern Europe."

NATO was described by the Western Powers as purely defensive and they rejected the Russian charge that it is "an aggressive military group."

The West told Russia she could make a substantial contribution to European security by joining in efforts toward "an acceptable and effective agreement" on disarmament and the abolition of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The Western notes were in re-

PREPARE FOR EDNA—Workmen haul small power boats up onto land with the aid of a truck equipped with winch as they remove small craft from inlet in Weymouth, Mass., preparing for possible strike from hurricane Edna which is threatening New England area.

Storm Gathers Speed, Heads At Long Island

Hundreds Evacuated From Path Of 125 MPH Winds, Rains

NEW YORK (P)—Hurricane Edna raged toward the eastern tip of Long Island today where landmen felt the first thrust of its fury since its birth many days ago far down in the Caribbean.

At 10 a. m. EDT, the center of the storm's 125-mile-an-hour winds was charted 100 miles south of Montauk Point, the tip of Long Island 125 miles east of New York City.

Disaster directors there reported the Montauk highway inundated by the rising waters of the Atlantic and the tip of the island cut off. About 500 persons had been evacuated from the Montauk area by early today, said Charles Manstr, head of the Red Cross disaster unit in East Hampton.

The winds were rising fast and the ocean was white and combing on the long beaches.

New England Prepared

New England braced itself. It had more advance warning and was better prepared than when hurricane Carol smashed through the area 11 days ago, leaving 68 dead and property damage of nearly a half billion dollars.

The hurricane was gathering headway speed as it spun toward southern New England.

Loading off the Carolina coast at 10 miles an hour yesterday, it now was bearing down at 30 miles an hour.

In a million coastal homes people watched and waited. The Carolinas, Virginia, Maryland and southern New Jersey felt heavy winds and rain—but most of the hurricane stayed at sea.

New York harbor, normally the busiest in the nation, was quiet. Ships rode at double anchor, crews alerted. Only ferries and an occasional brave coal barge rode the high tides in the swirling rain.

Coast Guardsmen, police and Red Cross officials were evacuating residents of low-lying areas on Long Island. Hundreds of others were evacuated from low-lying areas of Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island long before the storm was due.

Everywhere people recalled the fury of the 1938 New England hurricane which piled up tidal waves that swept over lowlands with a loss of hundreds of lives.

Storm Unpredictable

The Washington Weather Bureau said much of Suffolk County on the island would be hit by winds of hurricane and gale force, as all coastal areas from Virginia to Maine grimly awaited the whims of the unpredictable Edna.

Edna, more powerful than disastrous Hurricane Carol, was reported moving north-northeast at about 30 miles an hour. The hurricane's 125 m.p.h. core was expected to blast southeastern New England before noon today. Winds accompanying the big blow extended 150 miles east and 50 miles

Miss America Finals Tonight

Alliance Girl Wins In Talent Division

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (P)—Fifty beautiful girls today entered the last round of competition to pick the fairest of them all—Miss America of 1955.

While the judges went into a huddle to total up the points gained by the lovely contestants in preliminary battles, the girls aimed for that final mixture of beauty and talent which would gain the coveted title for one of them and gain her over $50,000 in awards.

Seven attractive gals are leading the field at this point, victors in bathing suit and talent contests. But other points in evening gown competition, not yet announced, may place other girls in the select circle of 10 semifinalists tonight.

The judges, faced with the difficult choice of narrowing the field, will leave only five finalists and then late tonight one of them will be chosen as Miss America, succeeding Evelyn Ay of Ephrata, Pa.

The annual pageant which has been beset by ill weather since it opened in a rainstorm last Tuesday night, was slated to go on even if hurricane Edna damaged the shore. Convention Hall, in which the selections are made, is situated away from the ocean front.

The seven gorgeous specimens of femininity who have won preliminary contests on three successive nights are as follows:

Selection From Carmen

Talent division: Barbara Maxine Quinlan, 20, of Alliance, Ohio, who won last night with a selection from "Carmen."

Janice Hutton Somers, 19, Miss Michigan.

Heather - Jo Taerner, 20, Miss New York.

Linda Maud Weisbrod, 21, District of Columbia.

Bathing suit division: Polly Rankin Suber, 19, Whitmire, S. C., who won last night for her shapely figure adorned in a black swim suit.

Ann Gloria Daniel, 21, Miss Florida.

Lee Ann Meriwether, 19, Miss California.

A crowd of about 3,000 — less than half the usual audience — turned out last night to watch the parade of pulchritude pass along the stage. Rain pelting down on the boardwalk, a forerunner of hurricane Edna, held down the number of spectators.

Bids Lower In Lisbon For Sewage Jobs

LISBON — A total of $23,743 was lopped off the original bid of $386,503 when bids on the proposed sewage disposal plant and interceptor sewer were opened for the second time by Council Friday.

Offering to erect the plant for more than $10,000 less than in July, Roberts and Schaffer Co. of Cleveland was low bidder again at $229,905. Their bid July 15 was $250,603. The only other company submitting a bid was the Potters Lumber Co. of East Liverpool, $244,167.

A new bidder, Homer McClain of Hammondville, was low at $122,855 for the interceptor sewer. Others were Del Construction Co. of Shaker Heights, $123,800; D. Palumbo of Pittsburgh, who was low in July, $125,600; Cletus Patterson of Wellsville, $128,205 and Kane Brothers of Youngstown, $129,100.

Clerk Ray Hempstead said these figures may vary and that council will meet Sept. 23 to accept bids after Stillson and Associates, consulting engineers of Columbus, review the offers and make recommendations.

Five Injured In Two Area Road Mishaps

Five persons were injured in two of three traffic mishaps investigated by Salem state highway patrolmen Friday and this morning.

Four persons were hurt in a three-vehicle mishap which occurred at 9:20 p. m. Friday on Route 341, just west of the Ohio-Pennsylvania line.

Patrolmen said an eastbound auto driven by Lenole Wolhall, 29, of Chicago attempted to pass a truck operated by Robert Billings, 29, of Lovittsburg and crashed almost head on into an approaching car operated by Richard Polleys, 51, of West Chester, Pa. The impact drove the Wolhall car into the side of the truck.

Wolhall sustained lacerations of the lip and broken teeth; Marcella Lang, 37, of Chicago received a sprained back; Lucille Conroy, 30, of Chicago sustained abrasions of the knees and contusions of the scalp, and Mary Ellen Polleys, 36, of West Chester, Pa., received abrasions and lacerations of both legs.

The Polleys woman was in the auto driven by her husband; the other two women were passengers in the Wolhall car. The injured were treated at Salem City Hospital. Michael Aloisio, 31, of Pittsburgh lost control of his car on Route 7, just east of its intersection with Route 14, at 4:15 a. m. today, causing it to run into a ditch.

A passenger in the car, Charles Geiser, 31, of Pittsburgh, sustained possible back and neck injuries and was treated at the Salem City Hospital.

An auto operated by Lester Speves, 31, of Homeworth and a pickup truck driven by Howard Wright, 32, of Alliance collided at 2:20 p. m. Friday on the Homeworth Road, two miles south of its intersection with Route 62, when Wright began a left turn as Speves was attempting to pass.

'Snags' Delay State St. Job

Project Completion On Schedule Promised

Progress on the State St. improvement project has been temporarily delayed because of unforeseen difficulties, it was learned today.

According to Henry Escola, job superintendent, "Work is about two days behind schedule. But we'll be through on time," he said.

One cause for the delay was unavoidable damage done to a storm sewer by crews ripping up the bottom concrete layer of the street. "However," Escola said "replacement sewer pipes arrived yesterday and we can begin laying them Monday as soon as state officials approve the sample pipe we sent them."

A grader and roller began working yesterday to level and pack the dirt in the black between Lincoln and Penn Avenues. That operation revealed that the roadbed is lower than was anticipated and will have to be filled in. Samples of the fill material, too, must be approved by the state before the fill can be applied, causing another slight delay.

Meanwhile, Water Commissioner Aubrey Hayes reported that his men, following the construction crews up State St. have set back all but two of the curb water shut-off valves between Lincoln and Broadway and have moved back three of the six fire hydrants along the street.

Another snag to the project arose when it was learned that a section of storm sewer running under State St. near Broadway was completely plugged up. According to Service Director James Feiler, the sewer was so badly blocked that it probably had been that way for years.

Tusek's Steamer Runs Out Of Steam

CHICHESTER, England (P) — Paul J. Tusek's 1906 Stanley Steamer ran out of steam and came into this ancient Sussex town on a truck yesterday with 21 other vehicles in the British-American Vintage Car Rally.

Tusek, of Power Point, Ohio, said he thought the Stanley might have a cracked cylinder. It ran out of steam after completing a hill climb.

The Stanley is rated as having a good chance of winning a beauty contest tomorrow—if Tusek can get up steam again.

The beauty contest is one of five events in tomorrow's final day at Goodwood. The race started in Edinburgh last Sunday. The British team had 3,420 points to the Americans' 4,320 (low score wins).

10,000 Visit Street Fair; 15,000 Expected For Tonight

COLUMBIANA — A crowd of 10,000 attended the Columbiana Street Fair on Homecoming last night and at least 15,000 are expected tonight.

The B-50 bomber, which Firestone American Legion Post, sponsored the fair, obtained from Dayton as a free attraction, continues to be a center of interest.

More than 2,000 passed through Thursday to inspect its interior and more than 2,600 yesterday.

"Kiddies Day" is being observed today from noon to 5 p. m. and children may enjoy the rides at reduced rates.

The tent display this year surpasses in interest those of recent years. A combined flower arrangement display by the Columbiana Garden Club and the Green Thumb Garden Club is an especially attractive feature under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Heck and Mrs. Joseph Woodward of the respective clubs.

The old time locomotive bell presented the Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Township by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was on display in the tent, but the society's main exhibit not suited for open display, fills one of the large windows of Holloway & Sons Store.

It consists of pre-Civil War ladies dresses and accessories along with other antiques. Besides dresses, hats, shawls, fans, jewelry, shoes and parasols are shown.

In addition is a pewter tea set of the period and a little girl's dress. Members of the Booster Club will help members of Firestone Post to clean up Main St. after the close of the fair at midnight today.

Breakfast will be served for the entire force at the Legion Home by Epsilon Eigma Alpha sorority.

Lisbon Chest Drive Seeks $7,025

LISBON — Some 80 solicitors for the Community Chest Fund will attempt to collect $7,025 next month for distribution among eight participating agencies.

The goal was set at a meeting Thursday night at David Anderson High School. It is $475 less than the 1953 goal.

Opening October 11, the 13th annual drive will be directed by co-chairmen Ross Fox and William Halfey. A kickoff breakfast on the first morning will be held at Hotel Wick for workers, Halfey said.

Agencies participating are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y-teens, Youth Center, Salvation Army, Playgroup Association, Salem Central Clinic and Salem City Hospital.

Police Will Enforce 1-Way Street Traffic

Mayor Dean Cranmer said today that police will be stationed periodically at points on 2nd and Pershing Sts. to haul in violators of the one-way traffic regulations imposed as emergency measures until completion of the State St. project.

"Local drivers have been the most troublesome in disregarding the one-way restrictions," the mayor said. He added, "As a result, several near-accidents have occurred on the streets."

Pershing St. has been designated a one-way street for eastbound traffic from Ellsworth to Lincoln; 2nd St. handles one-way westbound traffic from Lincoln Ave. to Jennings Ave.

Attempt On Life Of Ex-Red Pilot Probed

CHICAGO (P)—The Tribune said today police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were investigating an attempt on the life of Lt. Frank Jarecki, 23, former Polish pilot who fled to Denmark from behind the Iron Curtain in a Soviet MIG15 fighter in 1953.

The Tribune said Jarecki was fired on from a black sedan which had followed him about five miles and pulled up past his car at a stoplight about 20 miles from Chicago.

It said Jarecki related he heard a shot and his face was peppered with powdered glass from the window on his left. The car sped away after the shot, it said.

God Can Help You Find Your Way Back

On a speaking trip to the southwest I was having dinner in my hotel when a man came in asking for me. He introduced himself, very kindly saying he had been wanting to meet me for a long time. I asked him to sit down and he began to talk.

Dr. Peale

"I came to this town a bum," he started out. "If you don't know what I mean by a bum, I mean a hobo. I hoboed into this town." I looked at him dubiously. He was a big, healthy, fine-looking man, well-dressed and prosperous in appearance. "I can hardly believe that," I told him, but he shrugged off my protest, continued "Bac kthere, I started drinking. I went from bad to worse. As a result, my wife left me. I lost my job, in fact, several jobs—until I couldn't get another one. I became a bum. I panhandled on the streets. Then I panhandled through the countryside. I slept in barns, haystacks, any place I could find. My clothes were rags. I was down and out.

"ONE DAY I stopped at a house to ask for a handout. A woman fed me and, as I sat on the back stoop eating, she said to me: 'What makes you this way? You must have something more in you. You can make a man of yourself.' Then she went into the house and came out with a book, which she gave to me. It was your book, 'The Art of Living.' " he concluded.

Then he reached into his coat pocket and pulled out the book to show me. It was torn, ragged, dirty. He continued: "I took that book with me. Often, to get out of the cold, I would go into a public library and read it. I read it a dozen times while I was going across the country. I came to this town eventually because I had heard there was a kindhearted man here who might give me a job. I had his address and went to his house.

A young woman was outside sweeping the sidewalk. That woman, incidentally, is now my wife."

HE WENT ON with his story: "As I read that book, I began to feel close to God. I could actually feel myself change. A feeling came to me that perhaps I could be an accountant. So I borrowed some books and began to study cost accounting.

"An oil company finally hired me for a special job. It was a kind of work I'd never done before, but I applied the spiritual principles I'd learned, and I prayed. I'd been told that if my figures were within twenty percent of accuracy, my employers would be satisfied. In my prayers I asked God to help me figure it out. With His help, I came within seven-tenths percent of the final figures."

When I said goodbye to this remarkable man who had started our conversation with the words, "I was a bum," I knew that I was seeing a man who had found his way back. He had learned that, if you put your trust in God and let Him help you, it doesn't matter what you have been or what you are. He can help you become what you ought to be; He can help you find your way back.

One wonderful thing about human beings is that, no matter how old they are, now badly they have failed, how frustrated they are, there is always a spark within them—the hope of starting again, doing better, achieving their dreams, finding their way back to their highest desires.

Never let that spark die in you. For no matter what happens, with the help of God, you can find your way back.

TO THOSE WHO BUILD

This sturdy structure was built, not to prevent storms, but to withstand them. Every known device was used to make this building safe from the winds and rains that beat upon it.

So we should build for our children! Nothing parents can do will prevent a child from facing the realities and storms of life. All too soon he will face evil influences; all too soon he must make his own decisions.

But parents can help. As this ancient castle was constructed to withstand storms, so the spiritual life of the child should be fashioned to withstand the temptations and passions that will beset him. His character should be fortified with faith so as to meet the problems of life courageously, successfully and happily.

Every child should be taught to love God and his fellowman. He should learn to know the great personalities of the Bible who drew their strength from God. He should experience the strength that comes from prayer and be ever receptive to God's gift of grace.

It is the duty of adults to bring their children, and if need be their neighbor's children, to church school and worship services. For nothing is so important in a child's education as a true knowledge of the way of life as taught from the pages of the Bible.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Girl Wins 28th Time Over Pneumonia

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—If determination and patience continue to pay off, little Sheryl Ann Kolbe of Hesperia will be around for many more birthdays.

Sheryl Ann celebrated her fourth birthday yesterday only 24 hours after discharge from Hackley Hospital and her 28th victory over pneumonia on her 33rd trip to the hospital.

Sheryl Ann suffered a near fatal attack of meningitis when she was only six weeks old. Her first battle with pneumonia came about two months later, Polio struck at seven months and left her partially paralyzed in a body brace. Doctors say the brace may come off when she reaches 18.

Two bouts with measles and more and still more pneumonia attacks have left her body weak and susceptible to disease, doctors say.

But nurses at the hospital, which has practically been her second home, are amazed at Sheryl's patience and stamina. They say she is one of their most lovable patients.

Plenty Of Parking Space

Most people are familiar with Salem's improved off-street parking facilities, but it's worth pointing out again that the State Street paving project shouldn't deter shoppers from availing themselves of the many opportunities which our shopping district has to offer.

Loss of State Street parking facilities several years ago would have hurt business, but this is not the case today. Creation of spacious off-street parking lots adjacent to State Street within the past two years was a timely move. Banking institutions and the retail merchants have foreseen the need of providing ample parking space, much to the pleasure of shoppers.

Traffic congestion is hard to avoid with downtown traffic being detoured, but it's no effort to slip into a handy parking lot.

By Way Of Comparison

It takes an earthquake in Algiers, a hurricane roaring out of the Caribbean, a typhoon in Okinawa, a flood hifaloo in the Rio Grande valley and a volcanic eruption in South America to remind men they are still unable to outdo the forces of natural destruction.

It helps along the way to have a streak of freakish summer weather in Europe, raising the specter of famine, and another streak in the American Middle West, causing public authority to apply that over-used word, "disaster." An occasional blizzard in winter time or an equinoctial tornado also have their uses in balancing men's appraisal of their power to do damage.

Until the potentialities of nuclear fission were demonstrated with A-bombs and H-bombs, no one was tempted to believe human beings might hold in their uncertain hands some day the power to destroy themselves. Even gas and germ warfare had not raised that grisly specter of what might be spawned by man's inhumanity to man. But after nuclear fission materialized, alternately to haunt and bemuse human minds with its almost incalculable power, there was an obsession about the possibility it might be the end of everything.

The obsession is not well founded. Nature always will hold the advantage in weapons to wipe out men and their works. If the job is going to be done, it will be done with earthquakes, floods, aberrations of climate and gales of a ferocity that would sweep the earth clean of mankind and all traces of its presence.

Must The Unusual Be Illegal?

Twenty-seven-year-old Garrett Cashman of Albany is the ten millionth man to dream of hitching himself to a bundle of balloons and sailing away. But he actually did it. He was aloft an hour and a half, starting early last Thursday morning. When he came, having lost some of his balloons accidentally and others by design, he was arrested on a charge of flying without a license and thrown into jail.

Why? Must the unusual always be illegal? Have restrainers fastened a monopoly on the use of public's police power? Is it now a crime against society to admit that not all its members feel like behaving the same way and living out their lives in the same ruts of customary behavior?

A man jumps off a bridge to win a bet from a friend who doubted he dared to do it; he is arrested. A Texan in London flies an airplane under London Bridge; he is arrested. A philanthropist passes out money to one and all; he is arrested. A recluse accumulates a houseful of useless junk; the police break in and the recluse goes into custody.

Why? Wherein lies the crime of being a little bit different from the ordinary run of mankind?

Not Too Much Smarter

The convening of 2,000 of the world's leading mathematicians in Amsterdam arouses mixed reaction from laymen, most of whom had trouble mastering long division, fractions and decimals. To say nothing of square root.

The tipoff on the level of erudition of the mathematical delegates was apparent when Holland's Prof. J. A. Schouten, president of the congress, gave his opening address in Dutch, English, French, German, Italian, Swedish and Russian.

Plato undoubtedly was speaking as a disgruntled philosopher when he said a couple of thousand years ago: "I have hardly ever known a mathematician who was capable of reasoning."

The world probably owes mathematicians thanks for their contributions to material progress. But it is comforting to those of us who have difficulty spelling "calculus" to realize that the members of this illustrious group have not yet figured out how to reach such common ordinary goals as avoiding cuds or increasing their gasoline mileage. They're really not too much smarter than we are.

There is a bright side even for the school kids—only nine months until vacation.

Make Believe Age

By DAVID LAWRENCE

America Unprepared For Possib'e World Crisis

This period in history will probably be described some day as the era of make-believe — when governments and peoples of the free world simply refused to be realistic about what was happening all around them.

When, for example, the Korean War broke out in June 1950, the world was assured that the "police action" — as President Truman called it—would be over in a short time.

When it ended after three years of fighting, the world was assured in glowing terms that aggression had been "repelled" and communism had suffered a setback.

Predictions were widely published in the press by realistic observers that, after the armistice was signed, the military energies of the Communists would be turned toward Indochina. Solemn warnings were issued by the United States government that this must not be permitted to go unchallenged if it happened.

But the Communists disregarded all warnings and stepped up the war in Indochina. The French and British governments favored appeasement and left America isolated. When the Indochina armistice was signed, there was another wave of satisfaction expressed by the pollyanna spokesmen of governments that at last the world was going to see an end of fighting.

THE REPUBLICAN campaign strategists in the United States then began making flimsy about how peaceful the world had become and how much credit was due the Eisenhower administration for having ushered in a new epoch of tranquillity.

But the Communists haven't stopped fighting. They now have started another war — this time against Formosa.

Again there is a disposition throughout the free world to minimize it as just a few raids in and around a few small islands.

First of all, an American naval patrol plane is shot down on the high seas by Soviet fighter planes well off the coast of Siberia.

Then there are reports of attacks on Formosa by Communist planes. And now the dispatches tell how the Chinese Nationalist air force dumped rockets and bombs on the Communist-held Amoy Island and the near-by mainland coast.

As many as 100 jet planes have been engaged at one time in the raids of the coast of China and the word is that the Soviet navy is moving some of its ships and submarines into the area where the United States Seventh Fleet is also engaged in some maneuvering.

ON TOP OF THIS, the Security Council of the United Nations is called into session to discuss the attack on the American patrol plane by the Soviet air force. Since Soviet Russia is supposed to be a "peace-loving" member of the United Nations, there is expected to be some public debate about the aggressive tendencies of the Moscow government.

Coincidentally, the President of the United States, vacationing at Denver, Colo., has summoned the National Security Council into session there for Sunday to talk with Secretary of State Dulles, who has just returned from the conference about Southeast Asia held in Manila. The allies of the United States signed there a moral commitment not merely to consult with one another but to do something about Communist aggression if it goes further than it has.

All this does not paint a picture of a peaceful world or of a state of mind on the part of the Communists which makes the word "peaceful" in the phrase "peaceful coexistence" any less a mask for belligerency than it has been.

Plainly the government of the United States finds itself stymied in Asia, and the Communists are taking full advantage of America's frustration.

THE DIE WAS CAST in London last spring when Britain said she would not care to wage a war for the defense of Southeast Asia. Now France, having withdrawn from Indochina, in effect tells the world by her rejection of the European Defense Community Agreement that she isn't sure she knows whether she wants America or Soviet Russia as her ally in the future.

It's a confused situation in which the American people are not being alerted to the dangers that lie ahead. Possibly it's because the Republicans think they have printed too many copies of their "peace and prosperity" slogan to adopt a new one before the congressional elections are held in November.

Time is running out and the factors of tension and explosiveness that make for sudden war are not being erased by the attitude of passivity which seems to prevail in official quarters — including Denver, where the fishing and the golfing have been pleasant — as if peace is attainable by merely wishing that the bad men of the world would just go away.

Health To You

The Doctor Answers

What goes on in our minds when we are not conscious is something which has puzzled physicians, philosophers, and everyone else for a long time.

Q — My niece, who is 24 years old, after being in bed about 15 minutes, turns and screams, most of the time calling her mother. Her mother lives with her. In the morning when we tell her, she does not remember a thing.

A — This seems to fit into the pattern of what are known as recurring nightmares. It seems likely that this young woman was at one time terribly frightened about the health or well-being of her mother, and this keeps cropping up in her subconscious when she falls asleep. Quite likely it will become less constant with the passage of time.

Q — Could you tell me if it is possible to take treatments or vitamins to nourish the brain, to prevent or cure failing memory in persons over 60 years of age?

A — Unfortunately, it seems that there is nothing which one can do by way of diet or treatment to cure a failing memory. A more practical method is to use a notebook frequently.

Q — Please give me an opinion on a condition of the eyes. Noticeable is a slight bulging of the eyeball, lessening of the water in the eye, and at times flashes of light appear before the eyes.

A — This has all the earmarks of a serious eye condition, quite likely glaucoma. No time should be lost in consulting an eye specialist.

Q — I am allergic to strong soaps and cleansers on my hands, which break out in tiny water blisters. I have used them for 40 years and I would like to know why, after all these years, I should become allergic to them.

A — Allergy to soap or other things can develop at any time in life, even after one has been in contact with the offending substance for a long time. It would seem quite likely that if this is really the cause of the trouble in your hands you would get some relief by using a chemical detergent or cleansing agent other than soap.

Q — Please say something about the corners of a person's mouth becoming sore and cracking.

A — It is possible that this is the result of a particular vitamin deficiency, though other causes must be considered. Professional advice is indicated.

Q — I am a fingernail biter, but have recently stopped, hoping that the nails would grow again. They are picking up slowly. Is there any way to hasten it?

A — Congratulations on stopping the habit. The nails should grow normally if you continue to refrain from this habit and your general health is good.

Thoughts For Today

The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: Thou maintainest my lot.—Psalms 16:5. Faith in the hereafter is as necessary for the intellectual as the moral character; and to the man of letters, as well as to the Christian, the present forms but the slightest portion of his existence.—Southev.

The Hand of Fate

Stability Via Mergers

By DAVID BARNETT

Big business is trying to hedge against the knegs in the "sideways" motion of the American economy.

Business analysts say that is one reason for the spurt of corporate mergers that is giving "serious concern" to federal antimonopoly officials.

Republican administration's approach to monopoly problems has given corporation officers hope their merger plans will be approved.

Assistant Attorney - General Stanley Barnes recently held a special press conference to express his concern over the mergers and to announce that the government was looking into every significant consolidation.

Federal Trade Commission figures show that the total number of mergers — about 225 during the first half of this year — is running significantly behind the figure for last year. But it's the size of the companies involved that worries Barnes, the head of the Justice Department's antitrust division.

To economists, Barnes' public expressions of concern were reflections of what has been going on in the Justice Department and in the Federal Trade Commission for some time. They point out that Attorney General Brownell last year named a national committee of 57 experts to reappraise the basic antitrust laws. The committee's report is expected near the end of this year.

Both Brownell and the new FTC chairman, Edward F. Howrey, made it clear from the very beginning of this administration that mere size would not be used as a criteria for a finding of monopoly.

Thus, a careful review of the specific facts in each merger case would have to be made to determine whether consolidation would tend "substantially to lessen competition."

SOME CYNICAL observers even contend the "noise" from the Justice Department is primarily a political move designed to promote the idea that the Republican administration is not wedded to the welfare of the large corporations. The theory of government action to stem corporate consolidation developed from a "principle" stated by Adam Smith, the British economist regarded as the founder of the free enterprise system. He said: "People of the same trade seldom get together even for merriment and diversion but the conversation ends in a conspiracy against the public or in some contrivance to raise prices."

Businessmen have argued that sensible consolidation can lead to lower prices, because larger markets permit more efficient production and distribution. In some cases, they contend, mergers help rather than hinder competition.

It was on this argument that Barnes approved two recent mergers in the automobile business. Consolidation of the independents put them in a better position to compete with the three giants of the industry.

More of a borderline case is the proposed merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. The Bethlehem-Youngstown consolidation would put the merged corporation in a better position to compete with the No. 1 company, U. S. Steel. The Justice Department has not yet been convinced on this one, however.

THE MORE MODERN reason for consolidation, however, is prompted by the "sideways" trend.

When a theorist says the economy is moving "sideways" he means, in general, that the overall level of business is staying about the same but that some specific sections are going up and others are going down. The manufacturer of one product, for instance, can become depressed in that sort of economy, even though the over-all level of business activity is high, if he is in a sliding segment. By increasing the number of products, he can remove some of the risks.

This is the type of consolidation proposed by American Woolen Co. This corporation wants to add cotton and synthetic fibers to its woolen line. So far, the government has not taken a public stand on the proposal.

Pre-merger consideration of a consolidation proposal is another procedure indicative of the new concept brought to the antitrust problem by Eisenhower appointments.

There is no legal reason why companies should submit such proposals to the government. But it is part of the "preventive" approach adopted by Howrey and Barnes and, if advance approval is not asked, the company is likely to get a letter from Barnes asking for "information."

Opinions from the Justice Department are not binding either on the business or the department itself.

The assistant attorney - general can ask the federal courts for a degree requiring the breakup of a merger as a violation of the Clayton Antitrust Act.

And the company can always fight the request in the courts.

The pre-merger system, however, saves the expense of the court fight and so far, says Barnes, the corporations have followed the merger advice of the department.

The Last Leaf

By TRUMAN TWILL

The fallen leaves glistened on the grass under our big poplar in the slanting rays of last night's sunset like old sequins on green velvet. A detachment of sheep-browsing under the poplar made the kind of picture you try to fix in your mind's eye for viewing again on some leaden-skied day in February.

Up in the towering branches of the ancient tree there still was no evidence of any loss of foliage. It took a long look to see that the sere leaves were thick among the green ones; that the leaf fall would be gradual until one day in October a high wind would sweep the tree clean, making it ready for winter.

On some of the other trees the same thing could be seen more easily. The sweet cherry by the driveway was thinning out perceptibly as the sun's glinting light dodged through its gnarled, brown branches. The buckeye by the wall had covered the ground beneath it with curled, dried leaves. The buckeye pods that hadn't already fallen to the ground now were easily visible, although a week ago someone had wondered if there would be buckeyes this year.

The Early Transparent tree by the grape arbor also was thinning out, as were the walnut trees by the fence. The wild cherries on the hillside were laden with fruit, but little else. Only the towering and ancient oaks remained in full possession of all their leaves, as some of them have been known to do until well into the winter. It is as though the oaks had a pride of majesty that made them cling to their leaves until forced by sheer adversity to yield them in a winter gale.

The plums, less defiantly, also cling to their leaves. When they finally let them go it is with a gentle sigh of resignation. One morning after a cold drizzle the leaves are down and in a few more days they have disappeared. Where they go never has been made clear. It is part of the mystery about autumn leaf fall at our house—a mystery that does not seem to bother many persons, unfortunately.

Most tree custodians worry a great deal about what to do with fallen leaves. They purchase equipment to deal with the problem and spend hours of their valuable time raking, shredding, burning, burying and otherwise fussing with leaves.

Each leaf as it falls is pounced on as evidence of decadence, like a silver thread among the gold. It must be whisked out of sight, or transformed into something it was never intended to be, even if this is something ugly, like a pile of ashes. There is a leaf madness that descends on humanity in September in the deciduous tree belt and holds men in its grip until the last leaf has been disposed of, as though nature's annual yielding to senescence were something shameful.

The last leaf at our house is no problem. It falls when it is ready and goes where fate wills it should come to rot. Thanks to a favoring wind and an exposed position, this always is at a point so remote it is of no concern to the custodian of the trees. There is no need for burning, mulching, raking or burying. If a man wants to become preoccupied with fallen leaves, he can always step outside the door and clutch a few passing by. Other wise, he can sit by a snug fire, secure in the knowledge that next spring there won't be a fallen leaf in sight, anywhere.

Why not pass a law against standing in buses so people would get a real kick out of doing it?

September Scene

Hollywood won't make a picture these days unless the synopsis alone is too heavy to lift without a crane. (We hear one producer threw back "The Egyptian" as undersized). "Extras" are hired by cargo-lots and a single scene can have more animals in it than Ringling Brothers showed in its history. "The story is interesting but it lacks pyramids," a movie producer tells an author. . . and he is apt to ask "Can we switch the big sweater-knitting scene to the Hanging Gardens of Babylon?"

You go to a movie house today and can't feel sure whether you are in the audience or in the picture. You reach for your box of popcorn and get your hand run over by an emperor's chariot. The mood of boy-and-girl romance and intimacy is difficult to capture. (How can a girl feel cozy, cheek-to-cheek with her escort, with gladiators, lions and the Pharaohs swarming all around her? Demetrius may be in her lap and the boy friend may discover he has his arm around a dromedary.)

The trend for sheer bigness has reached such a point that we hear a producer of westerns just rejected a script for a superdooper "they went tethaway" because there was no scene in which the cowboys pursued the Deadwood stage coach on elephants.

September always brings us back to work excited, and confused. We know Dulles and Mag-saysay went trout fishing, Stassen agreed to split the series money between India and America, Arthur Watkins won't change pitchers despite Mendes-McCarthy and there will be no vote to censure Casey Stengel. We also realize that EDC lost to Carol, that Dolly will pitch the opener and that the series will start in a couple of weeks, NATO or not.

Otherwise the situation seems blurred, with nothing crystal clear except that it was a short summer, the police are stymied in their efforts to find out who kidnapped July, daylight saving will end shortly with Willie Mays dissenting and Clem Attlee was let out of the United Nations by waivers.

We start the autumn in a crusading mood and call upon the top figures of the American turf to hold a Rescue Andy Crevelin Rally, name a Committee for the Suppression of Hypocrisy and come out for a racing man's right to tell the truth. . . Mr. Crevelin, whose horse "Determine" won the last Kentucky Derby, is in exile for saying what is a well-known fact, admitted through generations of horse racing, that owners do not always send young horses out to win in their first few races, but run them for conditioning purposes. He not only made this honest statement but made it on a tape recording, which should entitle him to such racing sheet comments as "Courageous type" and "Can surprise." Mr. Crevelin was guilty of breaking fast from the Gate of Discretion, taking a long lead in the Candor Handicap and coming under the wire with his Truthfulness showing. If what he says is not true, what has been the meaning for 150 years of those racing comments "Last was fair," "Should do better next time out," "Stable reported shooting," "Has had conditioner and "Prep was okay?"

Will the Dior move to abolish the bust prove a bust?

Can you remember away back when Uncle Sam, hearing that any aggressor had shot down Americans, acted as if an aggressor had shot down Americans?

U.N. Takes No Action On Red Firing On Plane

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council adjourned last night without taking any action on an investigation into the shooting down of an American bomber off Siberia by Russia fighters Sept. 4.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate, and Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky engaged in a bitter exchange. Vishinsky served notice the Soviet Union would refuse to allow the Security Council to conduct any investigation into the plane incident, no matter what the Council said about his right to vote against an investigation.

The Soviet delegate also denied Lodge's charge that his country claimed the right to shoot down planes over the open sea. He said the Neptune bomber, out on a weather patrol when it was shot down, was over Soviet territory. He added that Russia will defend its territory against any "peeping planes."

Lodge argued that the plane was over international ocean territory and the nine other members accepted his statement. Lodge suggested that the World Court take over adjudication of the dispute which he said was the latest of a pattern of unprovoked attacks on American planes since 1950.

of McCarthy's investigations subcommittee, also has been summoned by the special group. He said in Chicago yesterday he would be glad to appear. Cohn said he is due to report Sunday to Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss., for two weeks of training. He is a first lieutenant in the New York National Guard.

The committee already has indicated it will call James N. Juliana, a member of the investigations subcommittee staff.

And Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) of the special committee has said it may be necessary to hear from Francis P. Carr, the McCarthy group's staff director, on whether the record of Zwicker's testimony in closed session was made public by McCarthy without the consent of the other investigations subcommittee members.

One of the five main groups of censure charges against McCarthy alleges he abused Zwicker while questioning the general at a closed hearing in New York last Feb. 18.

McCarthy was hunting at the time for information on who was responsible for the promotion and honorable discharge of an Army dentist, Maj. Irving Peress of New York, who had claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer McCarthy's questions about alleged Communist connections. Zwicker was Peress' commanding officer at Camp Kilmer, N.J.

It was McCarthy's questioning of Zwicker that brought into the open the McCarthy-Army row that wound up in 36 days of televised public hearings.

Under cross-examination yesterday, McCarthy held to his position that he did not abuse Zwicker and that he sought only to "get the truth" when the general, McCarthy said, "was not giving us straightforward — what I would consider honest answers."

Lawton earlier this week declined to testify about a conversation he is reported to have had with Zwicker because he said he had been advised not to by Defense Department lawyers. Attorney Williams charged the Army had "gagged" Lawton.

Secretary of Defense Wilson, after a series of conferences on Capitol Hill and at the Pentagon, wrote Watkins the Defense Department "will encourage" Zwicker and Lawton to testify as long as they stay within bounds imposed by a Presidential order last May.

west of its center, with gales spreading out in a radius of some 200 miles.

Boston's weather forecaster, who last night urged parts of Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island to take immediate precautions against "abnormally high tides and hurricane winds," today extended hurricane warnings "north of Portland to Eastport" in Maine.

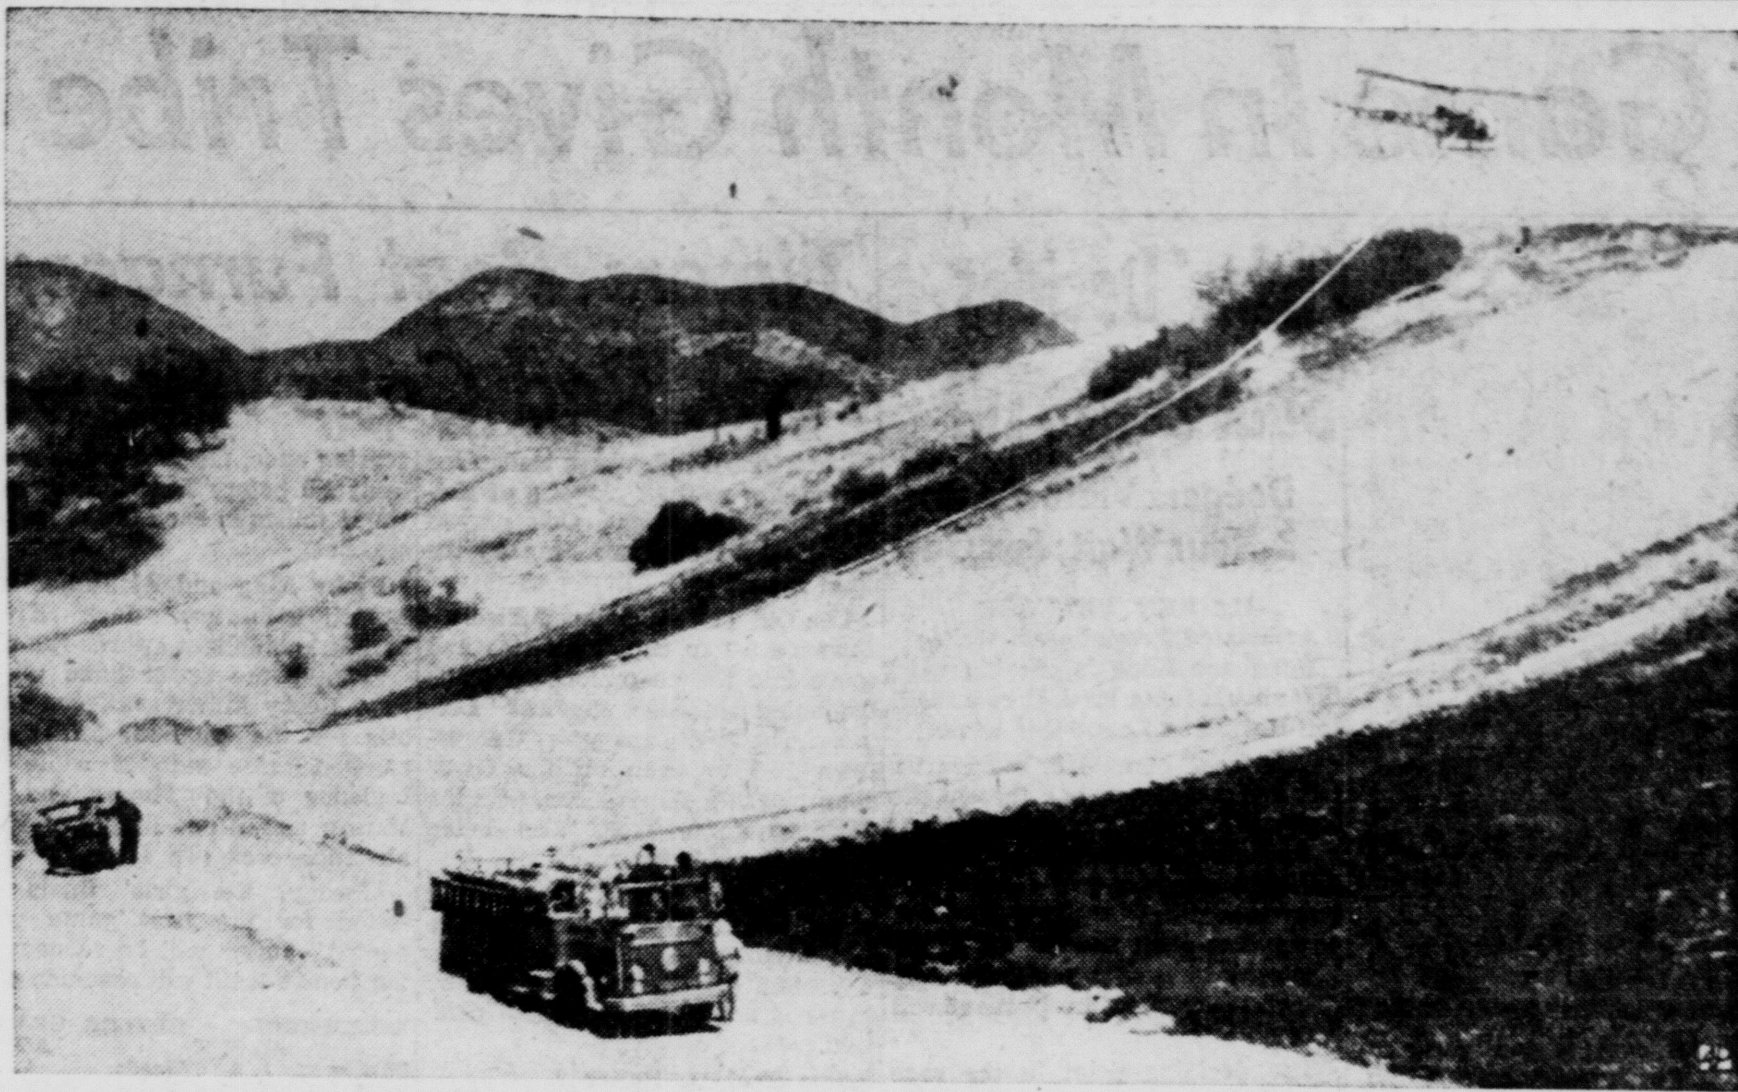

The Boston Bureau added, "It will hit the Connecticut-Rhode Island coast line a few hours after daybreak."

The New York Weather Bureau said today: "It seems quite certain that the New York City area and northern New Jersey will have winds 'no higher than strong to occasionally gale force.'"

However, the Bureau said winds "close to hurricane force" would strike the eastern end of Long Island.

Three Bids Received On Courthouse Work

Bids from three Ohio steeplejacks, the lowest at $3,600, to copper-plate the courthouse dome, and paint the Statue of Justice, were taken under advisement by county commissioners today.

Steeplejack Service of Warren submitted the low offer on the project. It will include removing the corroded tin, tearing out rotted sheathing, and replacing it with new, replacing rafters and deteriorated beams, lining the ancient peak with copper and redcorating the statue.

Ohio Steeplejack Service of Norwalk gave the second best bid of $6,300 and I. A. Fisk of Akron was high at $10,485.

E. G. McCormick of Lisbon, maintenance supervisor of county buildings, will discuss the bids with commissioners before the contract is awarded.

Two bids on microfilming equipment to photograph the mounds of old records accumulating in the courthouse were accepted.

The Johnson-Watson Co. of Dayton offered to furnish a microfilm camera for $2,085, compared to a $3,500 bid by Diebold Inc. of Canton.

The Dayton firm offered alternative bids on the film reader of $350 and $775. The Canton Company's reader would cost $1,850.

Microfilm equipment in neighboring counties will be inspected before further action is taken.

Texas Democratic Party Under Control Of Conservatives

By The Associated Press

The decisive victory of Gov. Shivers in the recent run-off primary in Texas was due to a movement and a trend which had its origins long before.

It was not due, as some commentators have asserted, to the popularity of President Eisenhower and the Eisenhower policies. It is necessary to say this without in any way deprecating the President's undoubted popularity over the country or his substantial achievement in getting his program through Congress.

'Emergency' Kitchen Set Up For CD Group

LISBON — Beef stew, biscuits and coffee, prepared on improvised cooking equipment, will be served some 100 civil defense and government officials at the CD headquarters Sunday at 4:30, concluding the 16-county civil defense exposition.

Forty women from Lisbon, Leetonia and Kensington, under the supervision of Mrs. Viola Reynolds, have built ovens of 50-gallon oil drums, brick, mud and straw.

Stirring paddles have been fashioned from wood and dippers have been cut from tin cans.

Lard cans will serve as stew pots. The field kitchen will simulate conditions which might exist in the event of an enemy air attack where domestic supplies are destroyed. Mrs. Reynolds said.

The sanitary aspects of the mass feeding demonstration will be supervised by Dr. George Pantera, county health commissioner.

During the mock air attack at the fairgrounds, a first aid squad of 12 women will rescue a "victim" of the bombing and demonstrate how first aid is administered.

Directing the squad will be Mrs. Ann Reynolds, instructor. The program will open at 2:30 p.m., according to Gerald Sanders local CD director.

GOP Head Lauds Bender For His Support Of Ike

CLEVELAND (AP) — No congressman "has supported President Bender," says Leonard W. Hall, Republican National Committee chairman.

Speaking at a rally of 1,500 Cleveland Heights Republicans last night, Hall declared:

"I come to you with the wish from Washington, with the wish from the White House, that in January, the new junior senator from Ohio will be George Bender."

Congressman Bender is seeking to unseat the Democratic candidate, U.S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke, Cleveland's former mayor, in the November elections.

Hall, who added, "I'd like to see Ohio start with Jim Rhodes for governor and go right down the ticket for every Republican."

declared that a Republican victory was vital to the success of President Eisenhower's program.

Louisville Man Fined On Assault Charge

LISBON — A 29-year-old termite exterminator from Louisville, who entered a Lisbon area home on the ruse he wanted to buy it, was fined $20 and costs today for simple assault on a young mother of three.

Lawrence Loveless, an employee of Terminex Inc. of Canton, was found guilty by Justice of the Peace Felix Butch of attacking Mrs. James Wilson, 26, of Crawford's Corners near West Point Thursday morning.

Mrs. Wilson testified Loveless, who claimed he intended to purchase the old brick house, shoved her onto an upstairs bedroom bed as she conducted him on a tour of the rooms.

However, Loveless, the father of an eight-year-old child, claimed he stumbled and fell.

He evaded officers but was arrested Friday night by Wellsville police.

Loveless returned to the house Friday night and requested the housewife to dismiss the charges. Mrs. Wilson said she wrote down the license number of his car and telephoned the sheriff's office.

ply to formal Soviet proposals July 24 and Aug. 4 for a European security conference and a Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

On Thursday the Soviet Foreign Office issued a lengthy new statement contending that German rearmament would mean a greater threat of war and would keep Germany divided indefinitely.

That statement was seen here as an effort to capitalize on confusion and uncertainty in the Western camp following French Assembly rejection of EDC. This French action has left Western governments without any alternative device for arming West Germany.

In this connection, considerable American attention was focused on British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's tour to West European capitals beginning today. Eden will talk with government leaders in Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, West Germany, Italy and France — the countries that were to have formed EDC.

American policy on a possible substitute for EDC has not yet been fixed in detail. But State Department officials have been taking the view that they would like to see European leaders come up with some kind of a new plan instead of looking to the United States for the initiative.

Eden's trip could produce—or at least promote—a set of European proposals.

Patmos Observer Unit Small But Efficient

The small community of Patmos, northwest of Salem, has its own Civilian Defense Ground Observer Corps.

Seven members comprise the Ground Observer unit, which since its organization in June, has logged 1,016 hours of scanning the skies for varied aircraft.

When planes are spotted, reports are phoned immediately to the Civilian Defense filter center at Canton.

The small, but efficient Patmos ground observer corps unit is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Booth, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Booth, Jr., Howard Gillett, Grant Reichart and Robert E. Booth. The latter, a Quaker City Foundry worker, is supervisor.

THEY REMAINED Democrats and claimed that the Texas Democratic party would retain full freedom to ally itself with any candidate or cause that it chose, regardless of the action of a national Democratic convention or committee.

It was quite natural, when Candidate Stevenson allied himself with the left wing of the Democratic party in 1952, that Texas conservatives, including Gov. Shivers, supported Eisenhower.

Garcia's First Complete Game In Month Gives Tribe 4-2 Win

Red Sox Fall For 19th Time

Hegan Homers; Rosen Rested For New York

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians should be almost as fond of the Boston Red Sox as Cleveland fans are of Boston's manager, Lou Boudreau, who piloted the Tribe to the 1948 world championship.

Last night's 4-2 victory over Boston was the 19th for Cleveland in 21 games with Boston this year. The Tribe lost two and tied two others. Should Art Houtteman win his 15th victory today against Mel Parnell (2-4), the Indians would end up with a 20-2 mark against the four-place Sox. Against no other league rival has Cleveland done so well.

The New York Yankees won, too, last night in Chicago, but they still trail by 5½ games, and any combination of nine Indian victories or Yankees losses in the next 15 days means Cleveland's third pennant in 54 years.

Mike Garcia scattered eight hits last night in winning his 17th against eight losses, it was his fourth straight over Boston, and his first complete game in a month. With three more starts in the remaining 13 Tribe contests, he could make the 20-victory circle for the third time in four seasons.

Catcher Jim Hegan, starting a three-run rally in the third with an infield single and clubbing his 10th homer of the season over the left field fence in the fourth, was the Tribe's offensive star.

Southpaw Lou Kiely gave up only one hit until Hegan opened the bottom half of the third by beating out a high hopper to third. A sacrifice fly by Garcia, Al Smith's single and Bob Avila's sacrifice fly brought Hegan home with the game's first run. Smith followed across the plate on Larry Doby's single; and Doby came in on Vic Wertz' double.

In the fourth, Grady Hatton doubled for the second hit off Garcia, then Jim Piersall followed with a safe bunt, and Sammy White singled Piersall home. Doby's fine running catch of Bill Consolo's short fly, and a throw to home that doubled Piersall killed this rally.

Harry Agganis' pop double and Piersall's single brought in the second Red Sox run in the sixth. The visitors threatened again in the seventh when Consolo walked and Bill Goodman reached first on a slow hopper which caused Avila and shortstop George Strickland to collide. With two on and one out, Garcia slipped a called third strike past Ted Williams, who in a rare display of temper shouted at umpire Hank Soar and threw his bat.

Williams, who has a chance for the league batting crown if he can get a score of hits in the Red Sox remaining 15 games, walked his first time up and had two ground outs and two strikeouts.

Al Rosen rested a charleyhorse in his right thigh last night and was slated to stay on the bench today in order to be ready for tomorrow's double header against New York.

Miceli, Smith Carded In TV Bout Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joe Miceli, New York welterweight, goes into his fight with Wallace "Bud" Smith a favorite tonight, but the Cincinnati lightweight hopes his record of two straight knockouts will be extended.

The nationally televised rematch (6 p. m., EST) must end in victory for Smith if he is to regain his status as leading contender in the lightweight division. Miceli's potent left hook dropped Smith to the No. 6 position after a knockout in their last encounter in February.

The 10-round bout will be blacked out in the Cincinnati area.

Ho'man Is Reassigned CCNY Basketball Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—The College of the City of New York announced today that Nat Holman had been reassigned as CCNY basketball coach.

Holman, suspended as coach in 1952 as an aftermath to the "fixing" scandals involving CCNY players, recently was reinstated to his position as associate professor in the department of hygiene after the State Department of Education had reversed a ruling by the Board of Higher Education. That body had ruled that Holman should resign or be dismissed because of conduct unbecoming to a teacher.

The State Department of Education order concerned only his faculty status. Holman had been cleared of misconduct by a trial committee, but the Board of Higher Education over-ruled this decision.

Watched by a large crowd of Salem fans, the Quakers fell before the Girard High Indians 20-0 in an under-the-lights practice scrimmage last night at Reilly Field.

Coach Ben Barrett and his staff evidently have their work cut out for them next week, polishing up the Salem backfield and working with the line before Friday's opener with the Conneaut Trojans.

The Girard line came charging in on most plays, while the entire Quaker line appeared to be loafing periodically. The Indians had a quick thinking quarterback who mixed the plays up well and had the locals guessing on several occasions.

Jack Alexander did some nice running at the fullback spot for the Quakers, and with sufficient blocking could have gone all the way on several plays. Salem Captain Jim Beard was bothered somewhat with a charlie horse in his right leg.

Left halfback Dale Middeker looked good in spots, especially when the Salem offense shifted to the single wing. A other times he was slow in getting started, giving the visiting line a chance to think and move.

THE PASSING of both Ray Hertz and Jim Fife was off. One of the Girard scores came on an intercepted pass from Fife. Sophomore quarterback Skip Yeager saw limited action in the last series of Salem plays when Barrett was substituting freely.

The Indians ran the ball first and gained steadily up field, and on

Lions Score 28 in 4th To Lick Browns

DALLAS (AP)—Despite a field goal by Lou Groza that sailed 52 yards, the Detroit Lions National Football League champions trounced the Cleveland Browns 56-31 last night in an exhibition game before a crowd of 43,000 in the Cotton Bowl.

Bobby Layne of the Lions either passed, scored or set up all Detroit's touchdowns except one. Lou Carpenter went over for three of the Lions' touchdowns, including an 80-yard charge. Doak Walker scored two, passed for one and tied eight conversions.

Cleveland scoring: Touchdowns, Graham, Lahr, Morrison, Brewster. Conversions, Groza 4. Field goal, Groza.

Detroit scoring: Touchdowns, Doran, Dibble, Carpenter 3, Layne, Walker 2. Conversions, Walker 8.

Sunday Deadline Set For Golf Reservations

The Women's Association of the Salem Golf Club is planning its 5th annual corn roast in conjunction with two golf tournaments with all members and their friends invited.

A one club, three hole tournament will start at 1:30 p. m. while a nine-hole regular golf tournament will begin at 2:30 p. m.

Card games are scheduled for 2 p. m. The women are to dress to represent a song. Judging of costumes will take place at 6 p. m. The committee requests reservations to be made not later than Sunday.

Leskosky Takes Fourth In Youngstown Open

Salem Golf Club pro Vince Leskosky took fourth place in the Youngstown Open yesterday with a 72-71 score. Leskosky had a good chance to win the meet until the last four holes.

The open was won by Jack Thompson, Jr. of Youngstown after a three-hole playoff.

the sixth play went over for a touchdown. Girard kicked the extra point. Girard made it 13-0 by scoring on an intercepted pass during Salem's first turn at the ball. The Quakers blocked the attempted extra point.

After the Indians had scored two touchdowns, the Salem defense tightened up, and the Quakers were able to hold the visitors on the next 10 plays.

Each squad ran the ball 10 plays at a time. When a team failed to make 10 yards in the four downs, the ball went back to the 20, where play started, and the scrimmage took up from there.

THE QUAKERS came closest to scoring midway in the scrimmage session when Alexander intercepted a Girard pass and went all the way down inside the 10-yard line where he was stopped. The Indians of their last TD

Inter-County Preview Set For Tonight

The annual Inter-County football preview will be staged tonight at Columbiana's Firestone Park.

There will be three 16-minute games with eight-minute halves. McDonald will meet Canfield in the opener at 8 p. m. Lowellville takes on Springfield Township in the second game at 8:30 and the Clippers face North Lima in the final contest at 9 p. m.

Most of the Inter-County league coaches are faced with a rebuilding problem this season, with the exception of Andy Golubie of McDonald who has 14 returning lettermen.

Clippier coach Rich Berryman has to replace nearly the entire line on his defending champions hip squad. The Columbiana backfield will feature Don Greiner, one of the district's leading scorers last season.

The Lowellville squad lacks weight and experience. The Canfield Cardinals also lack experience. Canfield's hopes were bolstered earlier this season when veteran Dick Smith suffered a broken leg. Injuries have also hit North Lima where the Zippers have only 24 men on their squad.

Coach Lawrence McPhee has nine lettermen at Springfield Township.

Cincinnati Upsets New York Giants 8-1

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today counted two distinctions in their final eastern swing of the season.

They finally ended their famine at the Polo Grounds and figured in a major league record.

After losing nine straight to the New York Giants in the Giants' home park, the Reds finally won one yesterday, 8-1, their first victory here this year.

The record was set in the eighth inning when Hoyt Wilhelm threw four passed balls to catcher Ray Katt. The old mark for one inning was three.

The Redlegs slammed six Giant pitchers for nine hits. Art Fowler was the most intrepid of the Reds. He was in complete charge all the way with the exception of the fifth inning. In that frame the Giants scored their only run on a double and single.

Ted Kluszewski's hitting streak was stopped at 19 straight games as he went hitless in three official trips to the plate.

But Jim Greengrass, Wally Post and Johnny Temple picked up some of the slack by getting two hits apiece, and Andy Seminick and Post each knocked in two runs.

during Girard's final time at running the ball. Barrett had substituted and the Salem line was holding when Girard again took to the air and got down to the one-yard marker. The Indians took the ball over on their last play of the scrimmage and passed for the extra point.

The Quakers didn't show up as well last night as they looked in their first two scrimmages this season. The Barrettmen defeated the Boardman Gridders and lost to Canton Central.

According to Faculty Manager Fred Cope, fans donated $121.97 last night, which more than covered expenses.

The newly erected all electric Booster Club scoreboard was used as anticipated because of the lack of some lights on the board. These will be installed early next week, however, and the board will be in use during the Quakers opening game next week.

Booster Club members planted 13 bushes donated by Wilms Nursery around the board before the scrimmage last night.

Barrett is in his 12th year as head Salem High grid mentor. His assistant coaches this year are John Cabas, Karl Zellers, Sam Pridon and Vince Crawford.

The Quakers will have no easy time of it this year, with nine tough ball teams to face. Salem will play seven home games, and travel to Canton Timken and Ravenna.

On the home schedule are Conneaut, Youngstown South, Steubenville - Wintersville, Wellsville, Youngstown Rayen, East Liverpool and Lisbon.

Score Fans 16 But Loses 2-1 Decision

By The Associated Press
Herb Moford hurled Columbus into a playoff spot in the American Association yesterday by blanking Louisville, 3-0, in the first game of a doubleheader. Louisville came back to take the nightcap, 4-0.

The loss put Columbus a full game behind Minneapolis which defeated Kansas City, 3-1, in its bid to finish third.

Herb Score, Indianapolis' brilliant lefthander, struck out 16 men but failed to post his 23rd victory. St. Paul got to Score for five hits and two runs, enough to beat the Indians, 2-1.

Charleston and Toledo split a doubleheader with the Sox taking the first game 11-0 and dropping the nightcap, 4-1.

County 4-H Softball League Playoff Set

LISBON — With all the fire and enthusiasm of Big League playoffs, two topflight softball teams will square off Sept. 18 at the County Fairgrounds to decide the first champion of the County 4-H Softball League.

"The league, in which 18 teams took part, has given new spirit to 4-H clubs in the county," Ralph Yeager, associate county agent declares.

In the championship game, the Country Gentlemen 4-H club team representing western Columbiana County, will face a team from the Lisbon Jr. Livestock Club, representing the eastern part. Yeager said both teams have been undefeated in their section.

Salem Riders To Face Harbor Hills Sunday

Finishing out one of the most disastrous seasons in year, the Salem Polo team will meet Columbus Harbor Hills at the local field tomorrow.

The final contest of the season, it will begin at 3 p. m., two hours earlier than previous home games. The Salem riders have won only three games this season.

'Edna' Decides Bum-Brave Tilt

Dodgers Victors After 3-Hour Wait; Sox Out

By BEN PHLEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer
Hurricane Edna is one big wind that should fan a lot of fires around the Hot Stove League this winter.

This freak of nature, roaring up the Atlantic Coast, has thrown the National League pennant race into a turmoil. Nobody will be able to tell until after the season ends just how the storm affected the outcome. But right now it looks definitely as if Edna's gales will help decide which way the pennant will blow.

The deciding point in the race may well turn out to be last night's rain and mud-soaked contest in Brooklyn. The Dodgers beat Milwaukee 2-1 during an evening in which the players spent 1 hour and 27 minutes on the field and 3 hours and 27 minutes waiting in the dugout for the rain to quit.

For the records the teams played 4½ innings and Brooklyn had two men on base in the last of the fifth with none out when a halt was called for the second time. A previous delay in the fourth lasted more than an hour.

The players fumed and fretted a. m. curfew came. No further wait and the umpires waited. The 12:50 would have been possible even if the weather had been perfect.

But Umpire in Chief Larry Goetz put the decision up to League President Warren Giles in Cincinnati. Should it be a legal game, ended by rain, or a suspended game to be finished today?

Giles pondered well into the early hours. It was 2:07 a. m. in Brooklyn before the Dodgers learned officially that they had snapped the Braves 10-game winning streak.

The decision meant a lot to both clubs since the first-place New York Giants had lost, 8-1, to Cincinnati in a day game. The loss left Milwaukee four behind, the Dodgers 4½ back.

Chicago lost its last mathematical chance in the American League by bowing to New York 6-3. Cleveland won No. 101, a 4-2 triumph over Boston and held its 5½ game margin over the Yankees.

In other action Baltimore edged Washington 4-3. Philadelphia beat Detroit 6-5 and Pittsburgh shaded St. Louis 3-2, all three games being decided in the ninth inning.

The rains that preceded Edna up the coast washed out Chicago at Philadelphia in the National League.

Billy Loes held the Braves to one hit—Joe Adcock's home run—in five innings at Brooklyn. The two Dodger runs came in the first on a double by Pee Wee Reese, a triple by Gil Hodges and Sandy Amoros' single.

Rookie Bob Grim and veteran Jim Konstanty tamed the White Sox with the help of a 2-run homer by Andy Carey and a squeeze bunt by Gil McDougald.

Ninth inning singles drove home the winning runs for the Athletics, the Orioles and the Pirates.

At Detroit rookie Jim Finigan singled home two runs with two out in the ninth for Philadelphia.

At Baltimore, Frank Keller, starting his first game since being brought up from San Antonio drove home Joe Durham, another newcomer, with the winning tally.

And in Pittsburgh, Dick Cole singled in the deciding run over the Cardinals after St. Louis had led almost all the way.

Theiss Tops Youngstown League In Strikeouts

Bob Theiss of Salem, star hurler for the Youngstown Home Club nine, led the "AA" league in that city in the strikeouts department last season.

Pitching 77 innings, the left-handed speedballer fanned 106, walked 46 men and allowed 35 runs on 54 hits. His record was 6-5.

Wynn Hawkins of New Waterford, star cager for the Trojans last season, was the top hurler in the loop, compiling a perfect 9-0 slate. He gave up only 34 safeties in 72 and two-thirds frames, whiffing 74 men and walking only 14.

AREA GRIDDERS AT KANSAS

Included among the prospective gridders at Kansas State University are two local boys, Leo McCluggage of Goshen and Keith West of Canfield. McCluggage is a 6-3, 208-pound sophomore end and West has been working out at the quarterback slot. West also is a sophomore.

'Timers Beat Furnace; Tool, Red Caps Winners

Three one-sided games transpired in the city softball playoffs at Kelley Field last night. One playoff was decided and two reached the final stage.

The Old Timers dropped Electric Furnace 9-2 to cop the series and move into the championship finals beginning Monday against Leetown. The Red Caps upset Georgetown 16-5 to even up the Girls' championship eliminations, with the deciding game there also being carded for Monday.

Salem Tool evened its second place series with Butler Grange 13-3 although Grange has lodged a protest and the outcome of the game is unofficial pending a decision.

Salem Tool 13, Butler 3

Kirby Laughlin staged a one-man show in pacing Tool to the win, which evened the series at one game each. Kirby blasted two homers and a triple, walked twice, drove in six runs, scored four tallies and came up with an unassisted double play to stifle Butler's only scoring threat. It was one of the finest efforts of the year at Kelley Field.

Scoring in every inning but the third and sixth, Tool rapped a total of 12 hits, with Jim Laughlin and Jerry Ball adding two each to Kirby Laughlin's total.

Leo Kline, the winning hurler, gave only five hits, two of them to Ken Woods. Kline fanned seven batters.

Red Caps 16, Georgetown 5

The winners got off to a 5-0 lead in the top of the first inning and were never headed. Janet Heinze slammed a grand slam homerun in the first inning to give the Red Caps a lead they never relinquished.

The Red Caps also tallied five times in the sixth frame.

Georgetown could do little with the offerings of Gladys Satterthwaite, who received credit for the victory. She struck out six, didn't walk a batter and scattered the eight hits she gave.

Phillis Milliken and Joan Crawford each had three hits while Betty McKenna and Erle Burrier had two each. Miss McKenna belted a two-run homer in the fourth.

Old Timers 9, Electric Furnace 2
After Furnace won the first game of this elimination, the Old Timers came back to take two straight, earning the right to enter the finals against Leetown Monday.

Basilio Whips Fiore Decisively In 10-Rounder

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Carmen Basilio was very much in the running for a second welterweight title shot today following his neat disposal of Carmine Fiore.

The top - ranking 147-pounder from Canastota, N.Y., dropped the 25-year old Brooklyn belter twice in the first round enroute to a decisive 10-round victory in Madison Square Garden last night.

Basilio decked the aggressive Brooklynite for counts of four and three with left hooks to the button. Fiore was given the mandatory eight count twice and just managed to evade a third knockdown which would have cost him the fight under New York rules.

Working inside and outside, Basilio hammered away with both hands without letup until the eighth when he seemed to tire. In the eighth and ninth, Fiore nailed Basilio several times with his dangerous hooks to earn the rounds.

The votes, all for Basilio, were: Referee Ray Miller, 63-1; Judge Harold Barnes, 8-2; and Judge Arthur Aidala, 7-2. The AP had Basilio in front, 7-3.

Basilio weighed 147½ to Fiore's 148½.

NEW YORK (Madison Square Garden) — Carmen Basilio, 147½, Canastota, N. Y., outpointed Carmine Fiore, 148½, Brooklyn, 10.

Countians Attend 4-H Congress

18 Youths Take Part In Event At OSU

LISBON—Among some 800 delegates to the 37th 4-H Club Congress opening today at Ohio State University are nine boys and nine girls representing Columbiana County clubs. Accompanying them are four county club advisors.

The delegates will take part in a mock assembly Monday at the Ohio Union to consider the question "Should the operation of unsafe motor vehicles on highways be prohibited by providing for periodic inspection of them?"

The county's representatives to the assembly are Franklin Gall of East Rochester and Dorothy Es-senwein of New Waterford.

Theme of the five-day convention is "Working Together for World Understanding." Miss Jean Stille, home demonstration agent, who will attend the first few days, said the young people will spend many hours in lively discussion groups, but there's plenty of time out for fun and good eating.

Other delegates besides Gail and Miss Essenwein are Agnes Tedeschi of RD, Wellsville, Phillips Hively of Columbiana, Gail Holloway and Patricia Zimmerman, both of RD, Leetonia, Bill Alexander and Jack Vincent both of RD 2, Salem, Harold Cowden of East Rochester, Robert Stauffer and Marilyn Gamble, RD, both of Lisbon; Howard Phillips of RD 1, Kensington, Glenn Spillman of New Waterford, and Janice Mohr of RD 1, Negley.

Advisors attending are Ralph Huston and Mrs. Mary Cameron, both of RD, Salem, Clark Hahn of RD 1, Homeworth and Mrs. T. Paul Laughner of Leetonia.

Miss Jean Stille will take part in a panel discussion on "Youth of the World," centered around the program of the International Farm Youth Exchange.

The history of the club congress dates back to 1916 when 126 boys from 42 counties won trips to Farmers Week at OSU for their success in stock judging contests.

Power Point Wants To Be 'West Point'

LISBON — Residents of nearby Power Point today petitioned Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield to change the name of the Madison Township community to West Point because of a mail mix-up with Powhatan Point, near Bel-laire.

Volunteer firemen are sponsoring the move, with Mrs. Jack Posenel, wife of the firemen's president, in charge of petitions. The town's grange, school and fire department already are called West Point.

THE BIG FILE—To the right of Webster's unabridged dictionary lies a stack of publications printed in the development of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 and the last 10 copies of the Congressional Record. They are examples of the large amount of material the Government Printing Office in Washington, D. C., had to put out in the last session of Congress.

Village Schools Show Increase In Enrollment

LEETONIA — Enrollment figures for the local schools, show an increase of 64 students for the 1954-55 school year over last year's enrollment.

Supt. D.D. Rummel stated an increase of two teachers added to the local staff. He said this increase could be handled without the addition of two new teachers if enough parents would give their consent to have pupils transferred to the Washingtonville school from the South Side school where the greatest amount of increase is noted.

The following enrollment by schools lists the '54 enrollment first through the '55 enrollment for that school in parentheses: Washingtonville, 152 (156); North Side elementary, 54 (46); South Side, 282 (240) and high school, 399 (382). The South Side third grade has 48 pupils under one teacher and there are 112 students in the fifth and sixth grades under three teachers.

IN EXPLAINING how the increased enrollment could be handled without the addition of new teachers, Mr. Rummel said that parents of children in those three grades at South Side would have to grant permission for the transfer of 15 third graders, 10 fifth graders and nine sixth graders to Washingtonville school where they could be added to those respective grades without any imposition on the teachers of those grades.

Letters went out Thursday to parents of these South Side children, asking the parents to contact Supt. Rummel if they will grant the necessary permission.

Only a half-day of school was held Wednesday and the full program was in operation Thursday. Kindergarten classes got under way Thursday with 16 enrolled for the morning class at Washingtonville; 25 for the morning session at South Side and 25 for the afternoon session at South Side.

EVERYTHING was in readiness for the opening of school with the exception of one of the new school busses which did not arrive for the opening of school as expected. A "loaner" bus is being used until such time when the new one arrives.

St. Patrick School re-opened Wednesday, with the children attending the 8 o'clock Mass.

The school has been painted. Enrollment in the school this year has increased with a total of 179. First and second grades are the largest.

Airman first class William Mathey is spending a 15 day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mathey. He is stationed at Stewart Air Base, Symrna, Tenn.

Friendly Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet at the Church Monday evening with Mrs. Louis Hoffman and Mrs. Charles Groner hosts.

Council For Retarded Youth To Elect Officers

EAST LIVERPOOL — Election of officers will be held at a meeting of the newly-organized Columbiana Council For Retarded Children Tuesday night at 7:30 in the auditorium of the East Liverpool High School.

Ben Warner, chairman of a Kiwanis Club committee sponsoring the move, said a committee will be named to provide physical and mental examinations for retarded children in the county.

He also said plans will be made to join the Ohio Council for Retarded Children. Notices have been sent to some 65 parents, ministers and other interested persons throughout the county, Warner said.

Anyone interested is urged to attend.

Cole Is Appointed To Appeals Committee

LISBON — Atty. Howard Cole, has been appointed to a one-year term on the National Appeals Committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Cole will attend the convention of the National VFW Council next Friday and Saturday at Kansas City, Mo.

House To Open Hearing Into Subversion At Dayton, College

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A "different kind of hearing—one that somebody else started—opens here Monday for a subcommittee of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The subcommittee will take a three-day look at alleged subversive activity in the areas of Dayton and nearby Yellow Springs, seat of Antioch College.

Most such hearings originate with the committee itself, but this hearing is the result, says subcommittee Chairman Gordon Scherer (R-Ohio), of "many, many" complaints of Communist activity. Chief of these complainants is the Ohio Department of the American Legion.

Other subcommittee members are Reps. Kit Clardy (R-Mich) and Francis Walter (D-Pa.). They are the same congressmen who conducted the hearing in Columbus in June 1953 for the ousted

Ohio State professor, Dr. Byron T. Darling. In the Columbus hearing, the professor took refuge in the Fifth Amendment and refused to answer more questions than he had earlier when he was quizzed in Washington.

Rep. Scherer stresses two things about the Dayton hearings:

"We are not investigating Antioch College as such; we expect to hear some witnesses from Yellow Springs—and some from the Antioch campus—but only to develop the 'pattern' of Communist infiltration."

"We are looking into the situation around industrial Dayton only because a number of American citizens insisted upon it."

The roster of witnesses subpoenaed—and those who will appear voluntarily—is secret. Committee rules provide that, Scherer said, A committee staff investigator has been at work in the Dayton area for months. It was on the basis of his report the committee—the so-called Velde Committee of the 83rd Congress—decided to hold public hearings, Scherer says.

Committee counsel for the hearings Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be Frank Tavenner, a Democrat. The committee has counsel from both political parties.

Hearings will be held in the Dayton municipal building, but—unlike the Columbus Darling hearings—they will not be televised, according to present plans.

Dr. Sheppard Seeks To Get Out On Bail

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was scheduled to appear in court again today to listen to his lawyers try to win his freedom on bail.

Attorneys for the 30-year-old osteopath called four witnesses to the stand yesterday when the bail hearing opened, and eight witnesses remain to be called.

Sheppard, accused of clubbing his pregnant wife to death, sat nervously clasping his hands through the testimony. Pleading innocent to the first degree murder charge, he has maintained that an intruder murdered his wife and injured him in a fight.

One of the witnesses, Don J. Ahern, told of the "leisurely and very pleasant" dinner he had with the osteopath and his 31-year-old wife on July 3, the night before her battered body was found in a bloodsoaked bed.

Sheppard jerked out a handkerchief and covered his eyes when Ahern referred to the home-baked berry pie, served by Marilyn Sheppard for dessert, which he believed was "some kind of favorite for Sam."

Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan also called as a witness Bert R. Winston, foreman of the grand jury which indicted Sheppard on the first degree murder charge. Winston confirmed a statement he once made to a reporter that there was "pressure" on the grand jury while it was in session.

He added that he and presumably other jurors had received telephone calls and questions from "curious people who wanted to know what went on" in the grand jury sessions.

Another witness, Mrs. Esther Houk told how she and her husband, Bay Village Mayor J. Spencer Houk, were summoned to the murder home by Sheppard when he telephoned. She said they found the osteopath sprawled over a chair in his study.

Houk was also subpoenaed but did not appear because he was hospitalized with a gastric ailment and a nervous condition.

Ohio Traffic Toll Equal To Population Of 3 Local Towns

The entire population of any one of three communities in this area would be wiped out by 1955 if all the persons "marked" to die in Ohio traffic yet this year came from one community.

This startling statement was made today by Director U. C. Felty of the Department of Highway Safety, who warned that during the last four months of last year 753 persons died in traffic, bringing the state total of those killed in 1953 to 2,047.

"Although there has been a reduction in the number of deaths this year in Ohio, if all the traffic deaths yet to come this year come from Petersburg, Beloit, or Berlin Center in Mahoning County, it would probably mean death to nearly every member of that community," Felty declared.

Petersburg, at the entrance of the Ohio turnpike, has a population of 700; Beloit 778, and Berlin Center 750.

Since traffic deaths usually occur one at a time and at varying intervals in our communities, "we seldom think of traffic as wiping out entire cities," Felty said. "But cold facts show that if all the deaths to be recorded during the last four months of this year came from any one of 65 cities in Ohio, these communities would disappear from the map."

A breakdown of those killed during the last four months of 1953 follows: September, 210; October, 230; November, 149; and December, 164.

Killed during the first eight months of 1953 were 1,294 persons as compared to an estimated 1,139 who have died in Ohio traffic through Aug. 31 of this year. Final figures for August have not been compiled, but estimates show approximately 150 persons killed during the month this year.

"Figures compiled for the first seven months of 1954 show 989 traffic deaths or 11 per cent below the number killed during the same period last year," Felty said. "However, unless more motorists accept their driving responsibility, 700 or more persons will die before 1954 is over."

Ohio To Build New Reformatory In Southwest, Needs Another

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—M. C. Koblenz, chief of the State Division of Corrections, is considering Ohio's need for another reformatory. It would be situated in the southwestern part of the state.

He says despite the state's program of building new institutions there still will be overcrowding unless the state has two reformatories.

In about 18 months the Marion Training School will be ready. It will become a reformatory and handle 1,500 inmates. The present Mansfield reformatory will become a prison. But Ohio's population is rising, and the number of people sent to prison or the reformatory becomes greater year after year.

This means, Koblenz says, that there is doubt Ohio will have enough prison buildings even after the training school is finished.

Building another reformatory would give the state enough prison buildings to handle present and foreseeable future prison populations, he believes. The reformatory and training school would provide from 2,500 to 3,000 more beds for prisoners.

Before the war, Ohio's prison population was 8,200. It dwindled to 6,600 by the time the war ended, increased to 8,200 right after the war and reached an all-time high of 9,971 last July. Koblenz sees no leveling-off in sight.

Ohio Penitentiary now has about 5,000 prisoners. It was designed to handle 2,500 but Koblenz says it can care for 3,000 comfortably.

Mansfield reformatory is overcrowded by about 600 now. Koblenz says the increase in prison populations is nationwide, and some other states are taking steps to meet it. The net gain in Ohio for the last few years has been 300 a year.

Why another reformatory? Why not another prison? Koblenz says a reformatory is needed because persons under 21 years old are responsible for most of the increase in crime against property—auto thefts, burglaries and the like. He emphasized that he doesn't favor a continuous building program because he believes the state's program to rehabilitate prisoners and persons on parole eventually will level off the prison population.

But before the rehabilitation program can function effectively more buildings are needed.

"The two go hand in hand," he said. "Eventually we will put into operation a prisoner classification and reception center. But we have to have places to send the various types of prisoners before that can begin. Maybe we'll have to delay it until we get another reformatory."

Under the plan hardened criminals would be separated from persons in trouble for the first time. This would let prison officials give more individual counseling to prisoners, and reduce the number of men who land in prison a second time, Koblenz said.

Part of the overall fight against increasing prison populations is the expanded parole officer program. Recently Koblenz was permitted to expand the force of parole officers to 50 and soon will have 55 officers working with 4,000 persons on parole.

"We don't plan to reduce the work load of the parole officer so low that he'll be 'bouncing' men on parole, but we want him to be able to spend more time with each man responsible for most of the increase in crime against property—auto thefts, burglaries and the like. We want him to be able to give these men the fewer will land back in prison," says Koblenz.

Nut Growers To Gather On Cook Farm

The Ohio Nut Growers Association, affiliated with the Northern Nut Growers Association and the American Horticulture Society, will meet Sunday, Sept. 19, on the farm of Hicy C. Cook, one and one-half mile east of Franklin Square, just off route 558.

More than 75 members of the 170-member Ohio Association are expected to attend. Columbiana County heads all other counties of the midwest in nutraising, according to association officers, John A. Gerstenmaier of Massillon, president, and Dr. E. M. Shelton of Lakewood, secretary-treasurer.

The public is invited to attend the meeting which will stress the growing of nut-bearing trees for both decorative and food purposes. Tree culture will be discussed.

Members and guests are expected to meet at 11 at the Cook farm and a picnic dinner will be served at noon. Coffee and ice cream will be furnished.

Short committee reports will be given and a description of the nut-growing season in Ohio this year will be described by various members.

If the weather is good, those attending will be conducted on a tour of Cook's planting, which includes a variety of chestnuts, black and English Walnuts and butternuts. Special attention will be given the hickory and pecan nuts and their hybrid, the hicans; also filberts, persimmons and others.

Later, the group will go to the Ohio Agriculture Experiment Station in Canfield where more trees will be viewed. If the weather is bad, the program, to be presented in Midway Grange Hall, will consist of talks, colored slides and movies of nut-growing in the area.

'GOP Election Express' Convention Bound

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "GOP Election Express," a bus load of members of the National Federation of Republican Women, left Friday for the organization's convention in Los Angeles Sept. 22-23. Enroute, the women will check on voter sentiment and try to rally party forces for the congressional elections this fall.

Along the way, receptions, luncheons and dinners have been planned.

Mrs. Carrol Kearns, National Federation president and wife of Rep. Kearns (R. Pa.) described "the express" as a traveling laboratory which will analyze political feeling across the country.

She said the travelers "will carry the message of the Republican Party to the voters" and will emphasize the need for more Republicans in Congress in 1954.

As the bus travels across the country additional Republican women leaders will join the trip.

The Ohio trip will begin at St. Clairsville in Belmont County Sept. 11, when the bus arrives from Wheeling, W. Va., about 10:30 a.m. An 18th Congressional District GOP group will meet the party here.

The express then travels the length of U.S. 40, stopping at Cambridge briefly, then on to Zanesville for lunch. The party plans to reach Columbus about 3:30 p.m., being greeted by Republican leaders. It then goes to Dayton to spend the night after a reception there at Montgomery County GOP headquarters. The next day, Sept. 12, the party heads west with the first stop in Terre Haute, Ind.
